

A Tempest in the Village Teapot

East Aurora's Love-Hate Relationship with the Roycroft's Elbert Hubbard

A presentation by Aurora Town Historian Robert Lowell Goller

Roycroft founder Elbert Hubbard was a controversial and eccentric character, whose personality and writings were often at odds with the leaders and residents of the small village in which he founded the Roycroft. Learn more about how Hubbard's progressive ideas were received in East Aurora and what led village leaders to, among other things, ban his books from the community's library.

Thursday, February 18 at Noon
Aurora Senior Citizen's Center
101 King Street, East Aurora

This program will be presented as part of the Town of Aurora's Winterfest festivities. All are welcome!

